

Implementation Assistance Services

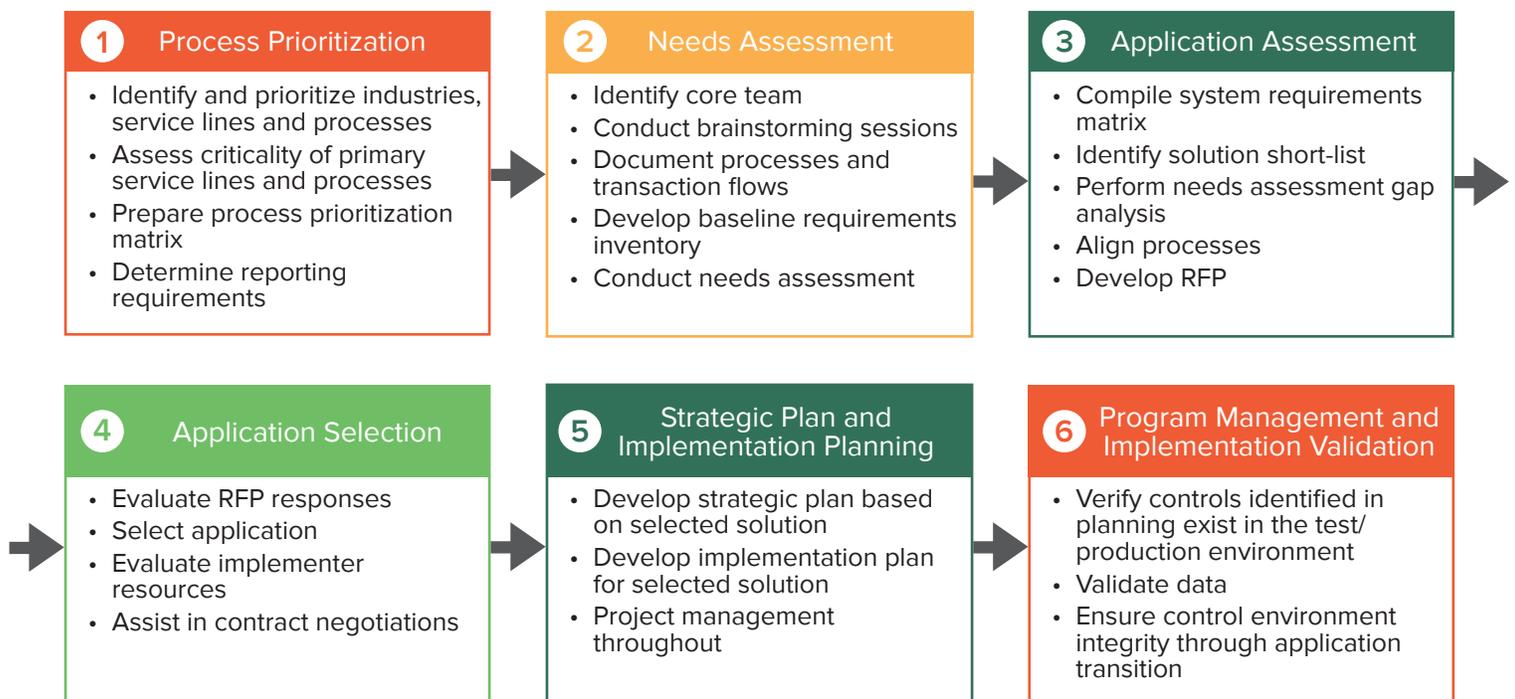

Weaver's Risk Advisory Services group is keenly aware of the pitfalls of implementing a new ERP system. We know from experience that an effective implementation relies on many factors beyond just system functionality, configuration and installation. You must also have:

- ▶ An application that addresses the priority objectives of the business
- ▶ Transactional processes that align with core system functionality
- ▶ Reports and queries that support the business needs
- ▶ Project management to ensure the project meets the needs of key stakeholders
- ▶ Training and resources for end users

Implementation Assistance Tailored to Fit Your Specific Needs

Weaver works with management to ensure not only that your needs are completely and accurately identified, but that all facets of your implementation are taken into consideration (business requirements, workflow, internal control reporting and training). Weaver can assist as a partner throughout the implementation or as an expert resource for targeted assistance activities based on your in-house expertise. Furthermore, we can assist with the design of project governance models to help you ensure changes and unforeseen requirements can be quickly evaluated and included to minimize the effect on the overall timeline of your implementation.

Holistic Approach for Effective ERP/HCM Implementation

The Weaver Difference

Insight and Experience: Understanding Your Needs

Building an effective plan for the future of your ERP environment is about more than just creating checklists and spreadsheets. For meaningful results, you need professionals with the experience and insight to understand how the implementation supports your overall operational needs and business objectives, and the potentially broad implications of process changes. Our Risk Advisory Services group has the breadth of experience and knowledge needed to put recommendations in meaningful context, so you can make informed decisions and build a solid foundation for ongoing success.

Project Management

Weaver focuses on consistent and reliable communication throughout your implementation to ensure that all key stakeholders are aware of project status, issues and accomplishments.

Collaborative Focus: A Foundation for Long-Term Success

For Weaver, success is not built on engagements, it is built on relationships. That's why we work to cultivate a lasting, collaborative relationship with you, with an overarching focus on continuity, responsiveness and continuous communication.

Our partners and managers provide much more than oversight and accountability; they remain available throughout implementation and beyond. By providing this added level of guidance and support, you can be confident in our commitment to helping you meet both your immediate ERP objectives and your long-term strategic goals.

Quality and Value: Making the Most of Your Investment

In maintaining the trust of your members and customers, we know how important it is that you spend your budget wisely. At the same time, when it comes to something as crucial as ensuring effective implementation of an ERP solution, you can't afford to sacrifice quality for cost-effectiveness. Weaver offers you the peace of mind that comes from knowing you can have both.

The Weaver Difference

Our people and our relationships set us apart. Our professionals are recognized for their insight and ability to conduct highly complex assessments and analysis. They maintain active memberships in industry and professional organizations and regularly author papers and present at various industry conferences. Our staff members also pride themselves in providing a personal level of service. When you combine experience with personal attention, we call that The Weaver Difference.
