

Outsourced Property Tax Compliance

Property tax compliance can be both complex and time consuming, leaving many without the resources and/or expertise necessary to effectively manage their property tax compliance.

The effective management of property tax compliance often requires costly software, jurisdictional knowledge, personnel familiarity with property tax law and processes, as well as manpower not only to analyze data and prepare the renditions, but to manage deadlines as well as retrieve, review and process notices and tax bills appropriately.

Given the specialized nature of property tax, outsourcing can be a viable solution for companies to ensure fair valuation of their personal property and minimize their property tax liability. Accurate reporting is the first step in this process and Weaver can help.
