Houston Business Journal Recognizes Weaver as a Fast Growing Middle-Market Business

HOUSTON, TEXAS (June 24, 2021) – The Houston Business Journal recently selected Weaver, a national certified public accounting and advisory firm, as the 45th fastest growing middle-market company in the Houston region. To qualify for the 2021 Middle-Market 50 Awards program, companies must be in business for at least five years, earn between $28 million and $1 billion in revenue for fiscal year 2020, and have headquarters within the Houston metropolitan area.

With a two-year growth rate of 18.4%, Weaver continues to build its national presence through expanded service offerings, including IT advisory, valuation, forensics and litigation, and transaction support. Along with the firm’s organic growth and new services, Weaver has focused on nurturing new talent in emerging markets. Adding nine new team members in the firm’s Oklahoma City office in the summer of 2020 was one of several recent moves to enhance the firm’s stature nationally.

“Weaver’s long-term goal is to continue building a national presence, provide growth opportunities for our people, and foster a best-place-to-work culture,” said John Mackel, Managing Partner and CEO. “As we grow, our Houston headquarters will continue to reflect our values as a firm, our loyalty to the business community and our commitment to building a strong, engaging workplace.”
